We do not share your personal information with third parties for cross-context behavioral advertising purposes, as that term is defined under the CCPA/CPRA and similar laws. The service providers

AtlasBrain includes an optional social feature that lets you connect with other users as "friends." If you choose to accept a friend request, your lock-in activity data — including minutes studied, topics covered, and streaks — becomes visible to that friend. This visibility only occurs if you affirmatively accept a friend request; it is never enabled automatically. We do not share this activity data with any user who has not been accepted as a friend.

6. Do We Offer Artificial Intelligence-Based Products?

We provide the AI Products through third-party service providers ("AI Service Providers"), including OpenAI. As outlined in this Privacy Notice, your input, output, and personal information will be shared with and processed by these AI Service Providers.

If you upload a document or file (for example, a PDF) so that we can generate learning content from it, that file is temporarily stored and transmitted to our AI Service Providers, including OpenAI, solely to generate the content you requested. We access these AI Service Providers through their standard API offerings, which by default do not use the data submitted through the API to train the provider's public or general-purpose AI models. Files you upload for this purpose are not used to train any public or third-party AI model.

11. Do We Collect Information From Minors?

You must be at least 13 years old to create an account. If you are under the age of majority where you live (generally 18), you may use the Services only with the permission of, and under the supervision of, a parent or guardian, who should review this Privacy Notice and our Terms and Conditions. If you are located in a country where the law requires parental consent for processing personal information below an age higher than 13 (for example, up to 16 in some EU member states), you must have that consent before using the Services. We rely on the age you provide when creating an account and do not currently use a separate age-verification process.

If we learn that we have collected personal information from a child under 13, or from a child below the applicable age without required parental consent, we will promptly delete that information and the associated account. If you believe a child has provided us with personal information, please contact us at helphexagon64@gmail.com.

12. What Are Your Privacy Rights?

In Short: Depending on your state of residence, you have rights that allow you greater access to and control over your personal information.

If you would at any time like to review or change the information in your account or terminate your account, you can log in to your account settings and update your user account or contact us at helphexagon64@gmail.com.

preferences, keep you signed in, and understand how you interact with the Services so we can improve them. These technologies do not access information on your device beyond what they are designed to collect.
